

The Midas List

Todd Chaffee

Institutional Venture Partners

Digital media expert enjoyed one of the few sizable IPOs of 2008; network security firm Arcsight debuted on the Nasdaq in February. Past successes include ComScore, Akamai, Netflix, Yahoo! and VeriSign. Served as president of Visa Marketplace, the credit card giant's in-house investment fund, prior to joining IVP.

About The Midas List

Since 2000, the Forbes' annual Midas 100 List seeks to identify individuals who deploy venture capital to create wealth for their investors and build valuable, long-lasting companies and who are recognized as market leaders in their industry segment. They consider tech and life sciences companies that have gone public or been acquired within the past five years. The results are based on extensive reporting and surveys sent to thousands of professionals, including angel investors, bankers, lawyers and venture capitalists.